

STUDY OR WORK IN SWITZERLAND

HEAD START SWISS

Giving the careers of Australian scholars, early-career researchers and young professionals a head start to study or work in Switzerland.

The campaign Head Start Swiss is an initiative of the Embassy of Switzerland in Australia with the aim to promote international opportunities for early career researchers and young professionals and to enhance mobility between Switzerland and Australia.

SWISS GOVERNMENT EXCELLENCE SCHOLARSHIP

for doctoral and postdoctoral candidates, as well as candidates wishing to undertake research in the realm of their PhD or medical specialisation.

THINKSWISS RESEARCH SCHOLARSHIP

for students who have completed their second year of under-graduate studies or are currently enrolled in a post-graduate (Master's) programme.

YOUNG PROFESSIONALS PROGRAMME

for Australian citizens aged 20-30 who have completed vocational training (apprenticeship or university degree) now working in the profession in which they trained.

MERTZ FELLOWSHIP

for early-career researchers from the polar and high-altitude science fields.

AT A GLANCE

Switzerland is a small country in the heart of Europe with a big reputation for research and innovation and one of the world's most competitive economy. Two main factors explain Switzerland's success: an education system of exceptional quality and sustained long-term and substantial financial investment in favour of education, research and innovation.
